NATIONAL MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION—FIRST ANNUAL METTING AT CLEVELARD (OHIO) WEDNESDAY, MAY 27, 1868.

This Association, formed at the National Manufacturers' Convention at Cleveland, last December, aims to secure unity of action and mutual acquaintance and co-peration for the common benefit of our varied industry and skill among all kinds of manufacturers and producers of accessary and useful staples or articles of tasic and ekgance. A general attendance is urged from all parts of the country. The report of the delegates to Washington sent from the convention last winter to ask for reduction of taxes, reform of revenue official and retractioned and expenses, will be presented and the report will clearly show the benefit of erganized and continued effort.

As other reforms are needed and as povernment expenses should be still further reduced millions of dollars, it may be deemed best bereafter to send men of ability, character and practical business expenses of vital importance to the people. Matters of importance touching future plans and efforts and a more perfect organization will be brought before the meeting, and a large attendance is hoped and expected. Let all towns and cities send delegates, and let individual manufacturers come also. The sessions will probably occupy two days, and will spen at ten A. M. the 27th.

DEPARTURE FOR THE SENATE CHAMBER.

After the members returned to the House Mr. Huh, Arer the members returned to the House Mr. Huh, Arer, Jof N. J., introduced a bill authorizing the Manufacturers' National Bank of New York to change its location, which was referred to the Committee on Banking and Currency.

Mr. O'NEILL (rep.) of Pa., presented the memorial of the Board of Trade of Philadelphia, arging the reduction of the tax on whiskey to fifty cents per gailon, and suggesting that the tax upon tobacco, in its various forms, be levied upon the plant.

Mr. KERB. 46m.) of Ind., introduced a bill to amend the eighth section of the act of July 4, 1864, on the subject of pensions, so as to authorize pensions granted in certain cases to date from the date of discharge or death of the soldier. Referred to the Committee on Pensions.

the reasons why he objected to the consideration of the resolution.

Mr. Brooks desired, in connection with this proposition, to have another allegation in the debate of Friday investigated, for among other charges against him by the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Butler) was one involving a question of veracity between himself and that gentleman. The gentleman had said "that some time ago there was a case where one Clark sued a fellow by the name of Brooks for part ownership in the New York Express, and there was a difference between Erastus Brooks and the other partner about a division of the spoils. They brought him (Mr. Butler) the case, and showed him that the two Brookses had robbed Clark. He (Mr. Butler) did not love the firm; he would have nothing to do with it. It was a nasty affair, and end so fertile as guano. He saw the case in court and the Brookses beaten." Mr. Brooks, in reply to the above, read a letter addressed to Hon. Erastus Erooks, as fellows:—

The straight of the shadow of a truth to rest upon.

Yours truth.

Mr. Brooks said Mr. Clark, the plaintin in the suit against him, is one of the preprietors of the New York Tribune and the money editor of that paper. That gentleman had sent to him a telegram, namely:—"Betler's story about the Express suit has not a shadow of truth. It was never effered by me to him." Mr. Brooks remarked that he wanted the matter to be investigated. The question of veracity which interested the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Dawes) is a matter of only sixty theusand dolars—a comparatively small sum. He should insist, on an investigation as to character. He could not understand the logical distinction in his (Mr. Dawes') mind in demanding an investigation now, when the other day, in a question involving the character of his collengue (Mr. Butler) and his associates in the case of impeachment he (Mr. Pawes) voted not to appoint a committee to investigate the Alta Velta controversy, involving one million dollars. Why the gentleman was so much interested in the sixty thousand dollar matter it was not within his power to determine. If the matter of geld was to be layer-tigated it was mecessary to follow it up with all investigation of the whole New Cricans Military Department.

The Speakers and the question was, will the House now consent to consider the resolution?

Mr. Dawes remarked that he offered the resolution at the request of his colleague (Mr. Butler), or whose character for stategivy the remarks of the gentleman from New York (Mr. Brooks) reflected. It was for the House to say when a charge was made by one member on a fellow member, and he asks for an investigation of the truth of the charges, whether they would grant it or not. He repeated that he offered the resolution at the request of his celleague and not because he or his celleagues believed there was ground for the charge sufficient for an investigation.

Mr. Eldeinge, (dem.) of Wis., desired five minutes to make some suggestions before the House; should determine to act upon the resolution. He asked for that much time.

Mr. Besseamin, (rep.) of Mo., objected.

Mr. Daves considered it altogether unnecessary to instruct the committee.

The House seconded the demand for the previous question, and extered the main question to be put.

Mr. Eldithor desired to make a few remarks.

Mr. Beck, (dem.) of Ky., desired to make an inquiry of the chair. Mr. Eldridge suggated a modification of the resolution so as to cover the entire administration of General Butler. He could see no reason why a part only should be investigated.

Mr. Van Wyck. (rep.) of N. Y., objected to the further reading until the Chair ruled on the subject after the paper had been read.

It was read to the effects—

It seems that owing to the confusion which prevailed in the Hall yesterday the concluding remarks of Mr. Donnelly were not distinctly heard by the porter. The understanding among members and reporters is that instead of inviting the House to take a drink he asked where it would be proper for him in the present temper of the House to propose that the mattenan from Illinor, and himself imitate the mattenan from Illinor, case of the Secretary of War and General Thodas, "and go out and take a drink," It was to Valis remark Mr. Washburne replied that he belonged to a temperance society.

Although the current of opinion has set in strongly that the impeachment of the President will fa!, nevertheless the extreme radicals express confidence in his conviction. To such an extent does, this confidence prevail, that the policy of the "new administration" is the constant theme of discussion and consideration among those who claim a share m shaping and determining it. Mr. Wade himself has on more than one occasion developed his plans for the future, when he shall hold the executive reins. A few evenings since he was approached by a prominent radical congressman, who said:—"If regret to see the imm', nent danger which exists of a conflict between it is some measure will be adopted to prevent it."

Wade—That can easily be done. We must k we sufficient troops there, sir; troops will prevent it. Congressman—But our Northern friends ar alternooming impatient under the fearful expenses sir a standing army and they may refuse to be tax addor such a purpose much longer.

They supported it in return for certain concessions from their republican opponents. To carry their point they sacrifeed the interests of the hundreds of thousands of their constituents interested in these donations—not that these vast donations are correct; but they were inserted in the tax levy by the democrats of the Assembly, who have now been "sold out" by their Senatorial colleagues. The tax levy was passed up stairs to suit "the machine." What mattered it that the donation of a few thousand dollars to St. Deanis' church, in Mackerelville, was stricken out, while the republicans would agree to let Mr. Tweed and his brother Supervisors have $800,000 to complete (?) the new Court House? "The machine" is to fix the amended tax levy in the Lower House, where it will come up to-night for concurrence in the Senate amendments, and where there will be a terrible ruction over the demolition of the charitable items. It remains to be seen whether the City Assemblymen, each of whom has half a dozen religious schools tagging at his coattalls, will agree to adjourn at the immediate nod of the Senate.

IMPORTANT ARREST OF COUNTERFEITERS Capture of $25.000 Bogus Notes. 4

Captare of $25,000 Bogus Notes.

(From the Detroit Advertiser, May I.)

Colonel Wood, Chief of the Secret Service Division of Washington, with his force and the assistance of the Canadian authorities, captured Jim Burdell alias Charles Harwood, James K. Writtenhouse, alias James Kincaid, and his wife, and the notorious Allie Boyd, female counterfeiter. Some time last November Writtenhouse, alias Kincaid went, to Sombra, in Ontario, and opposite this city, and rented a country readence belonging to James Dawson, representing himself to be a Southerner who had left the South on account of the tyrannical rule of the Yankees. He was soon followed by the notorious Jim Burdell, who is now under indictment in Cincinnati for issuing counterfeit money. Then came the noted Ben Boyd, who is claimed to be one of the finest engravers in the country, and who has been up before for the same offence, but was let off on easy terms. Alle Boyd, his reputed wife, accompanied him. She is also a notorious character, having served in the penitentiary for a similar offence. The last individual on the list was a brother of James Kincaid. But little of his career is known. Considerable speculation was aroused among the Canadians as to what the business of the above counterfeiters could be, but the Southern exile story somewhat quieted them. Express packages would occasionally come to the address of James Kincaid, which afterwards proved to be material for counterfeiting. On the 16th Kincaid and Burdell were seen by the detectives to come to this side of the river and goto St. Clair. Theywere at once followed. They went to the express office at St. Clair and left a package addressed to Mrs. C. B. Edwards, Cincinnati, and took away a package of bank note paper which was sent to them from Philadelphis. After they had started to return home Levy and Newman, the detectives, captured the package, which was found to contain $25,000 in counterfeit reasury notes of the denomination of $10. The package was left in charge of their package, became ANCIENT COINS.—A gentleman who for geveral years had resided in the suburbs of this city had succeeded in gathering quite a collection of ancient coins. About a year ago he moved into town, and placing his treasure in a box deposited them in a closet. Not long since he had occasion to go to his coin box and very much to his surprise found it empty. Upon appealing to his wife for an explanation he learned that she (not knowing their value) had been cultivating her-taste for music by bestowing them liberally upon organ grinders.—Boston Traveller.
